THE TRANSATLANTIC BIG SCIENCE CONFERENCE

The Transatlantic Big Science Conference is a new forum for productive, thoughtful, and candid conversations about the urgent need to empower research collaborations across national boundaries. The inaugural TTBSC 2022 was held in Washington DC in 2022.

The conference aspires to create opportunities to renew and reinvigorate historic collaborations between scientists and organizations and to empower transnational research communities to pursue transformational, sustainable solutions to global challenges.

Proposed Topics: Energy transformation, Climate science, Biopreparedness, Basic science cooperation, Technology sovereignty, Research security
